Slacker Radio Announces iPhone, iPad and iPod touch Station Caching for Listening Everywhere

Slacker Radio 2.0 for iPhone, iPad and iPod touch Includes Station Caching for Listening to Music Without a Mobile or Wi-Fi Connection

SAN DIEGO, CA – June 3, 2010 – Slacker, Inc. today announced the availability of Slacker Radio 2.0 for iPhone, iPad and iPod touch*. For the first time ever, iPhone, iPad and iPod touch users can cache their favorite Slacker music stations to listen anywhere – whether they are connected to a wireless network or not and without incurring data charges.

With Slacker Radio 2.0 for iPhone and a Slacker Radio Plus subscription, music lovers can select specific stations to cache while they are listening by simply tapping “Cache This Station” from any station page. Once stations have been selected, individual songs for the stations are automatically downloaded by selecting “Refresh Stations” from the Cached Stations link in the home screen view. During a station refresh the application will store up to thousands of songs on the device for off-line playback allowing stations to be accessed on planes, subways and everywhere in between with no interruptions and greatly reduced battery use. Along with the ability to store stations to the device, Slacker Radio Plus features ad-free listening, complete song lyrics, “peek ahead” artist and album previews, unlimited song skipping, unlimited song requests and more.

iPod touch and iPad owners can now listen to Slacker Radio beyond Wi-Fi networks and take their favorite tunes wherever they go without having to manage playlists or transfer music from their home computers. Free Slacker Basic Radio listeners will be able to cache stations for up to 14 days, providing the opportunity to try this new feature on their iPhone, iPad or iPod touch, risk-free.

“This is a significant milestone for us and Internet radio as an industry,” said Jonathan Sasse, senior vice president of marketing at Slacker. “iPod touch and iPad owners will find the new caching feature particularly liberating because they can now travel beyond Wi-Fi networks and still have an uninterrupted and unparalleled music experience.”

The millions who listen to the free Slacker Basic Radio service will continue to enjoy the same superior Slacker Radio experience. All listeners will have the opportunity to try Slacker station caching risk-free for up to 14 days by simply using the feature included with version 2.0 without the need of a subscription to Slacker Radio Plus. With access to a song library that is nearly four times the size of the leading competitor, iPhone, iPad and iPod touch owners can use Slacker Basic Radio and Slacker Radio Plus to create their own Personal Radio stations or listen to and personalize over 120 expert-programmed genre stations.

Slacker Basic Radio and Slacker Radio Plus also give access to artist biographies and album reviews, station fine-tuning and custom artist stations. In addition to marking songs as favorites, listeners can also ban songs and artists to create perfect custom radio stations.
